Leveling Up

The latest crop of kitchen appliances to hit the market deliver technological advances and designs that fascinate and delight.

A new level of sophistication is being introduced into kitchen design, and it's centered around the latest wave of appliance offerings. Today's appliances bear little resemblance to their previous incarnations, both in style and substance.

Sleek and personalized elements are everywhere, from European minimalist designs to bold colors to interchangeable knobs and details. Disappearing handles and panel-ready fronts deliver a clean, modern vibe, while bright colors such as red, yellow, green and 2020's Color of the Year – Classic Blue – provide a dramatic and fun focal point. Matte black and white are also trending, as are black stainless and copper.

In addition to making a style statement, today's appliances deliver results like none before them. Ranges with programmed recipes, automatic temperature control and multiple functions make home chefs out of cooking novices. Refrigerators and freezers keep food at optimal temperatures, scrubbing the air and preventing odor deposition between units. Dishwashers offer adjustable racks and clean everything from the finest crystal to the dirtiest pots. And, WiFi connectivity allows for incredible user control from outside the kitchen.

Outdoors, kitchens are getting an upgrade as well, with grills, smokers and pizza ovens getting the built-in treatment. Refrigerator drawers and undercounter units keep beverages, food and even wine close at hand for the ultimate in entertaining.

On this and the next six pages, Kitchen & Bath Design News updates its annual guide to kitchen appliance manufacturers and suppliers, providing company details and product lines available for today's leading kitchen appliances.
