Carve out seating and storage, for starters.

Want to see what $5,000 can do for your home? Put it toward the kitchen. “A new range in a fun color would really go a long way,” says New York City–based designer Young Huh. Bertazzoni’s bright and cheerful appliances would be her top choice for an update while keeping to this budget. But wait, there’s more.

Despise your dark granite countertops? Are your limestone floors taking you back to the '80s (and not in a good way)? Instead of settling for these dated features, invest in changing them. Do the math and you’ll see that there are infinite ways to stretch your money. Here are just four places to start.
